Curriculum Mapping is a calendar-based process for collecting and maintaining an ongoing database of the operational and planned curriculum in a learning organization. Curriculum Mapping encourages teachers to be curriculum designers via authentic examination, collaborative/collegial conversation, and student-centered decision making.

Curriculum Mapping is not something that you add to what you already do. It is a replacement model that means learning a new way of conducting the professional business of teachers improving student learning by designing rigorous, vertically aligned curriculum.
